Rector Writes

As the smoke haze lingered over our suburbs this week, we were all reminded, as if we needed it, that a difficult bushfire season may well be coming.

The smell as we walked outside, or opened a window, or even as the train doors opened at each stop, was unmistakable.

Smoke (and its association with fire, is a common theme in the Bible. Revelation 8:4 tells us that "The smoke of the incense, together with the prayers of God's people, went up before God from the angel's hand."

What a great reminder, as we struggle with smoke which gets in everywhere, that our prayers are like smoke. Our prayers rise up to God, who hears and answers them.

Prayer

- We pray for the nation of Libya following the torrential floods on 10 September destroying large parts of the eastern city of Derna. Thousands of people have lost their lives, with millions still in need of aid. We pray that a complete evacuation would be conducted and clean water, electricity, medicines and other supplies would be provided by international aid agencies quickly.
- We pray for the upcoming Sydney Diocese synod and all those in attendance. We pray for unity within the Church body. That disaccord, disunity, offense, and rejection would have no place in the church. Pray for those whose hearts have been hurt to be healed and for reconciliation to take place. We ask that this event would be a place for good discussions and wisdom for hard decisions.
